

Problem Statement

Sports players face challenges in discovering and organizing sports activities due to fragmented information, manual booking methods, and lack of real-time availability. Finding courts, tournaments, or enough players to complete a match often requires time-consuming coordination, while sports facility owners struggle with inefficient booking management and limited digital visibility.

Solution

CourtX offers a centralized mobile platform that allows users to discover sports facilities, book courts, join tournaments, and find players easily in one place. By providing real-time availability and management tools for venue owners, CourtX simplifies coordination, improves accessibility to sports activities, and enhances community engagement.

